

Code of Conduct

The purpose of the Code of Conduct is to unite our community under established expectations, allowing families with varying preferences to join together in Christian unity for support, socialization, and spiritual growth.

Expectations of Parents

1. Since we function as a community, parents are expected to contribute towards fulfilling the community's mission. The Leadership Team will work with you to identify where you can contribute based on your season of life and unique spiritual gifts. All give what they can, and the Lord fills in the gaps.
2. At least one parent is required to be at any CFAC activity or event in which their child is participating, unless expressly approved by a member of the Leadership Team in advance.
3. An adult will never be alone with a child that is not their own (no matter their age.) Two adults must always be present if alone with a child.
4. Parents are expected to ensure they and their children treat others with respect and Christian charity. Destructive conversation, gossip, or other uncharitable speech or behavior against the Church, our community, and individuals is a direct violation of the code of conduct. Proselytizing against the Roman Catholic Church, her official teachings and the Magisterium is prohibited.
5. Members are not to post photos that include other children outside our secure community website without that parent's permission. The only secure location to share photos of CFAC members is within the member portal.

Expectations of Children

1. As saints-in-training, children are to be kind. They are not permitted to bully, cross personal physical boundaries, or otherwise hinder their peers' ability to feel safe and secure within our community. Children will seek help from adults if they are having trouble navigating differences.
2. Older children are expected to be accommodating towards younger children and set a good example by their actions, which allows our community to meld multiple ages and encourage a pro-life, pro-family mentality.
3. At events, children will follow the rules of both the facilities we use and CFAC Code of Conduct. They will be respectful of both natural and man-made environments.

4. Children will keep phones stowed away during events. They may use them before and after to arrange for transportation.
5. Children will not bring knives or other items that can be used as weapons to events or activities unless it is deemed appropriate to the event, such as a pocket knife brought on a camping trip. Fixed blade knives, bows, and airsoft guns are never permitted.

Expectations of Families

1. We must always leave the hosting facility in a better condition than that in which we found it. All members are expected to assist with cleaning up after an event or activity.
2. In addition to the CFAC Code of Conduct, we also follow the stated rules and all procedures of our hosting facilities. This includes, but is not limited to, parishes, public parks, field trip locations, etc. We will remain in the areas designated for our group at these locations.
3. As Temples of the Holy Spirit, we will dress in a way that glorifies God. When at CFAC events, we wear our CFAC shirts and reasonably respectful, age, and activity-appropriate clothing. Unless we are at a splash pad, pool, or similar, children older than toddlers are expected to wear a full set of clothing, including shirts and shoes, at all times.
4. RSVPs are required to participate in events and activities. RSVPs typically close 48 hours in advance of an event. It is expected that families adjust their RSVP if unable to attend, and families with active RSVPs who are 'no-shows' may be required to pay their share of an event where applicable.
5. Guests/future members are welcome with advance notice and approval from a Leadership Team member. It is expected that guests will have been notified of, and will adhere to, the CFAC Code of Conduct.

Dispute Resolution

It is in the organization's best interest for parents to self-enforce these rules for the safety and comfort of all our families. If disagreements arise, the CFAC Leadership Team will assist in clarifying the expectations of CFAC families. Please be aware that the Board of Directors reserves the right to rescind membership for egregious or repeat issues, as well as modify or revise provisions at any time; these provisions will be made available to registered families.
